

GUIDELINE 1:

The school will publish the material only on its own website: taporaschool.co.nz or websites endorsed by the Ministry of Education, such as the Ministry of Education's website—The Online Learning Centre—Te Kete Ipurangi (www.tki.org.nz), and/or a website endorsed by the teacher or principal. The school may also recommend that student work, or the whole school website be available through Te Kete Ipurangi.

GUIDELINE 2:

The school publishes student material online for the following three main purposes:

- To educate the student in accordance with the national curriculum, including on the role and use of technology in society.
- To encourage the student to participate in and interact with a global learning community.
- To promote the school in the wider community.

GUIDELINE 3:

The school acknowledges that it cannot control who accesses the websites on which students' images or material is published or the copying, by visitors to these websites, of images of the students and their work.

GUIDELINE 4:

The school will identify students on the websites only by their first name and year at school. Students' surnames, home addresses and telephone numbers will not be available on the websites.

GUIDELINE 5:

The school will not publish a student's image or work without written authorisation from the student's legal guardians. The school will remove all material relating to a student from its website if requested by a legal guardian of the student. Once a student leaves the school, their work images, etc will only remain on the websites until the website is updated.

GUIDELINE 6:

The school will not publish material online that will defame anyone, be objectionable from a human rights point of view, be obscene, or infringe the copyright of third parties. All the student material published online will be subject to an editing process, which will include the correction of spelling and grammatical errors.

GUIDELINE 7:

The school has a designated privacy officer who is available to answer any enquiries from parents or students about the operation of the school's policy for the online publication of student images and work.

Procedure for the ONLINE PUBLICATION of STUDENT IMAGES and WORK*Purposes of online publishing:

The school uses a range of learning technologies to enhance student learning. These include electronic mail (email) and the internet.

From time to time, we publish material on the school's internet website, Facebook page, and Blog site. The material is for educational purposes. This may include examples of students' schoolwork and images of students and groups of students in activities at the school. Images of students may include scanned, digital or video images of them taking part in school or class activities.

The school will publish the material only on its own website:

taporaschool.co.nz or websites endorsed by the Ministry of Education, such as the Ministry of Education's website -The Online Learning Centre -Te Kete Ipurangi (www.tki.org.nz) and/or a website endorsed by the teacher or principal. The school may also recommend that student work, or the whole school website be available through Te Kete Ipurangi.

There are three main reasons the school publishes student material online:

- To educate the student in accordance with the national curriculum, including the role and use of technology in society.
- To encourage the student to participate in and interact with a global learning community.
- To promote the school in the wider community.

Privacy and online publishing:

Parents and students should be aware that the school cannot control who has access to the information published on its internet website or the other websites mentioned. In recognition of this, the school takes steps to safeguard the privacy of the students and to comply with the Privacy Act 1993.

Copyright and online publishing:

The school also wants to publish original material that students create at school, including artwork such as drawings and paintings, as well as stories, poems and other literary work. Original material created by students attracts protection under the Copyright Act 1994. The students own the copyright to their own artistic and literary works.

Given the age of the students, the school has decided that it will not publish online any image of a student or work they have produced without the written permission of each student’s legal guardians.

School management of online publishing:

The school will set the educational purpose for publishing students’ work online. A student’s image and schoolwork may be chosen for online publication if it meets this purpose and if the school holds the consent of the parent to publish the student’s material online. The material chosen must also meet the standards required for the website on which it is to be published.

For example, if the student’s schoolwork is to be published on the school website, it must not:

- Defame anyone.
- Be objectionable from a human rights point of view.
- Be obscene.
- Infringe the copyright of third parties (for example, the work must not contain substantial portions of another person’s copyright material without permission).

If the material is to be published on another website, such as The Online Learning Centre -Te Kete Ipurangi, then it must meet the publishing standards of that website.

Permission sought by the school:

The permission the school seeks is:

- Authorisation to publish the student’s personal image or work online as required by the Privacy Act.
- A licence to publish any copyright work of the student online.

Enquiries:

The school welcomes any enquiry from parents or students about the operation of this policy.

Parent permission for the online publication of a primary student’s image and work.

I (name of the parent/legal guardian) have read and understand the Tapora School policy on the Internet publication of student images and student work.

As the parent or legal guardian of (full name of student) I authorise Tapora School to publish images of the student on the internet, as well as any work that he or she may create at school, in strict compliance with the school’s policy for the online publication of student images and student work. I agree that this consent shall continue until I withdraw my consent by notice to the school or until the student ceases to be enrolled in the school, whichever happens first. I confirm that I have the necessary authority to give this permission.
